For the Red Cross.

BY JOHN O'KEEFE.

We give our money freely
To slay, since we must slay.
Shall we not give that men may live
To greet the better day?
Lo, here are hands not steady
That mend the broken clay!
We spend for deeds of valor,
For killing folk or clerk.
With n'er an end our gold we spend
To spread the powder murk.
Shall not the golden dollar
Go crown sweet Mercy's work?
We send a million rifles,
And, oh, they find their slain!
Shall we not show a world aglow
That Christ is more than Cain
And Mercy's hand still stifles
The soldier's cry of pain?
We make the cannon shipment,
New field of life to open.
We speed the flame, the sword, the mail,
The shells that sow the slope.
Why not the white equipment
That bears the Cross of Hope?
In all our ammunition
There lies the groan and curse.
But now shall go, since God wills so,
The ambulance, not hearse;
The succoring physician,
The gentle fingered nurse.
Your share of cost of slaughter
You as a patriot give.
You're paying high that men may die
And love be fugitive.
Come, send across the water
The ones who bid men live!
—New York World.

From Camp Clark.

Editor Register—As this is a very bad day in camp, and so not having anything to do, I thought I would write a letter to let you know how I like army life by now.

So far as I have seen and experienced, the army is certainly fine. We get excellent treatment, and very good meals. Of course it is all plain food, but what you get sticks to your ribs, and we get plenty of it. We are quartered in nice large tents, accommodating from 9 to 12 men; all are supplied with good cots, and two good blankets, and a bed sack, which is filled with straw, or such material as at hand, such as hay, grass, etc. Beside the blankets each man has a shelter half and a poncho, which can also be used for covering if necessary; by "shelter half," I mean a half a tent which is carried by each man for field service. Two men go together to make what is known as a pup tent. It is about 3½ feet high in front and 2 feet high in back, and about 7 feet long. The men back into them, and there is just room for two. The rifle is used for the front pole and the bayonet for the rear. Each man carries 5 pins to hold it down.

The following is the order of the day; each call being sounded by the Regiment bugle: First call, 5:25 A. M.; Reveille, 5:30 A. M.; Assembly, 6:40 A. M.; Mess, 6:10 A. M.; Fatigue, 6:45 A. M.; First Call for Drill, 7:30 A. M.; Assembly, 7:30 A. M.; Recall from Drill, 8:30 A. M.; Guard Mount, 10:00 A. M.; Sick Call, 10:30 A. M.; First Sergeants, 11:00 A. M.; Mess, 12:00 P. M.; Non-Com. Officers' School, 1:30 P. M.; First Call for Drill, 2:00 P. M.; Assembly, 3:00 P. M.; Recall from Drill, 3:00 P. M.; Mess, 5:30 P. M.; Retreat, 6:15 P. M.; Tattoo, 10:00 P. M.; Call to quarters, 10:45 P. M.; Taps, 11:00 P. M.

I would explain the different calls, but it would take too long, so I will pass over those, except to say that on Tuesdays and Thursdays we have regimental parades.
To give you an idea of how we fare I will give you the menu for a day:
Breakfast—bacon, grits or rice, syrup, doughnuts, bread, coffee.
Dinner—corn-beef hash, potatoes, peaches or apples, bread, coffee.
Supper—stew, rice, prunes, bread, coffee.
This is just an instance, and every day is as good or better, so you see we get very good food.
We have lately been discharged from the State Service, and now make up part of Uncle Sam's forces. We are now the 13th Infantry U. S., instead of the 1st Missouri Infantry, N. G.
Our camp is now located about 5 miles from Nevada. It is a very pretty location, flat as a flat and good drainage. Nevada is a town of about 3,000, has one street car line, and is a very nice little town.
Well I will close for this time; wishing the REGISTER the best of success, I am,
Yours Truly,
MECH. L. E. FAYE,
Company 13th U. S. Infantry, 69th Infantry Brigade, 35th Division, Camp Clark, Nevada, Missouri.
Sept. 26, 1917.

In the Navy.

CHARLESTON, S. C., Sept. 17.
Dear Editor—I thought that I would drop a few lines to the dear old REGISTER. Although it has been several weeks since I saw a copy of your paper still I haven't lost interest in it. I enlisted in the Navy July 13th, and was called the 10th of August, whereupon my report was transported to Norfolk, Va.; there I went through a course of military training. From there I was transported to Charleston, S. C. I have been here twenty-one days to-day and will be moved out of general quarantine to-morrow, and stay in marine corps until I am assigned to a ship.
We live in bungalows here and sleep in hammocks. We have a nice time, as the Y. M. C. A. gives an interesting party once or twice a week, and have church every Sunday, and movies twice a week.
I am in perfect health and as hearty as a pig. The way they feed the boys in service surely is the best that can be adopted, for they all are ready for their meals and I never hear any one grumble about it.
Well, I will ring off with good luck and best regards to the Iron County boys, as I was reared in the extreme West End of that county.
A. J. THOMPSON,
Company 2, Section 1, Fourth Regiment, U. S. N. Training Station, Charleston, S. C.

"State Roads" Under Construction.
State road construction in Taney and Montgomery counties has aroused an interest in many other counties throughout the state, and the State Highway Engineer has been called upon to visit practically every section of Missouri to officially designate "state roads." The United States Department of Public Roads has approved the project for the Webb City-Joplin-Galena road in Jasper County, and the work of construction will be commenced as soon as bids can be obtained. The Cole County project, which provides for the construction of 258 miles of road extending east and west through State Capital, is now in the hands of the Federal Government with the promise that its approval will be announced in the immediate future. The work of surveying the road connecting Jefferson City and Columbia has been started, and projects will be made both in Callaway and Boone counties. Perhaps the greatest road development planned in any section of the state is in southeast Missouri, where three counties have voted approximately two million dollars worth of road and bridge bonds. It is noticeable that the greater road activity is south of the Missouri River.

The Best Proof

Given by an Ironton Citizen.

Doan's Kidney Pills were used—they brought benefit.
The story was told to Ironton residents.
Time has strengthened the evidence.
Has proven the result lasting.
The testimony is home testimony—The proof convincing.
It can be investigated by Ironton residents.

Anderson Rust, Ironton, says: "I was badly in need of something that would relieve me of lameness and aching in my back. The kidney secretions were too frequent in passage, especially at night and sometimes accompanied by pain. A short use of Doan's Kidney Pills which I got at the Arcadia Valley Drug Co., entirely cured me."

NO TROUBLE SINCE.

Over three years later Mr. Rust said: "I have never had any return of kidney complaint and am as strong in praise of Doan's Kidney Pills as ever."

To Revive Hemp Industry.

A movement is on foot to revive the hemp industry of Missouri. A. H. Wright, who has been in charge of the hemp work in Wisconsin, has been appointed special agent for the United States Department of Agriculture to investigate the possibilities of reviving this industry which was quite extensive in Missouri many years ago. Mr. Wright on behalf of the Department of Agriculture has asked the University of Missouri College of Agriculture to cooperate in investigating the general climatic and soil conditions of Missouri with a view of encouraging the production of hemp.

Prior to the Civil War Missouri was one of the largest hemp producing states. Following the Civil War the industry declined because labor became too high and there was no machinery to handle the crop. Furthermore the use of steam vessels eliminated the sailing vessels on which hemp products were used to a large extent.

During the last few years the demand for hemp has increased. The European source has been cut off and consequently the demand for fiber used in the United States must be supplied in this country. Mr. Wright also suggests that the high price of steel has made binder twine so expensive that a demand has arisen for hemp fiber as a possible substitute for steel twine. While twine made from hemp alone is probably not satisfactory binder twine, it is possible that some method may be found for combining hemp fiber with other materials for making satisfactory twine.

Fewer Granite Paving Blocks Sold in 1916.

According to figures reported to G. F. Loughlin, of the U. S. Geological Survey, Department of the Interior, there were sold in 1916 44,795,796 granite paving blocks, valued at $2,228,486, a decrease of nearly 7 percent in quantity and of nearly 3 percent in value compared with the figures of 1915. The average price per thousand, however, increased $18.85 to $51.09. Four of the 15 producing States, Maryland, New Hampshire, North Carolina, and Wisconsin, showed increase in quantity and value of sales.

The decrease in quantity in 1916, though smaller than that in 1915, was even more general. Wisconsin's increase evidently signifies continuation of the increased demand in the Chicago and neighboring markets, but other increases during 1915 in the interior States were not maintained in 1916. The other three States showing increase in 1916 supplies the same general market as neighboring States showing decrease, and their amount of increase was sufficient to offset the decrease. Maine's decrease was due, in part at least, to a strike in the Vinal Haven district, which kept 400 paving cutters idle for six weeks. Hard work continued at the average rate during that period, and the New England States as a whole, and probably the entire country, would have equalled or surpassed the production in 1915. As there has been a growing recognition among city engineers and street commissions of the suitability of granite paving blocks for streets supporting heavy traffic, the decrease in quantity of paving blocks sold in 1916 appears due to a decrease in the amount of heavy traffic construction work, rather than to competition with other paving materials.

In Memoriam.

Annie Elizabeth Padfield was born in Suffolk, England, August 20, 1853, and was married to Alfred Hale, April 20, 1870. To this union four children were born, two of whom, Dr. J. W. Hale, of Yorktown, Texas, and Miss Ethel Hale, of Coleman, Texas, survive her.

Though for forty years a semi-invalid, and the last ten months suffering constantly and intensely, her life was one of the most perfect and beautiful examples of a true Christian life this world has ever known. A life full to the end with unselfish devotion to her family, loyalty to her friends and faith in her Savior, with never a murmur or complaint through all the disappointments, griefs and sufferings.

She entered into the last sleep Wednesday, September 12, 1917, quietly, peacefully, and, as we who knew her and loved her best, looked into the beautiful face from which every line of care and pain had been removed, we thanked God for the blessed memory and the marvelous influence of her life and that His glorious reward was at last hers.

Services were held at the family home in Coleman, Texas, by Rev. J. J. Kellam of the Baptist, and Rev. F. S. Henderson of the Presbyterian churches, after which the remains were conveyed to Yorktown, Texas. A brief service, led by Dr. Walsh of the Baptist church, was rendered at the cemetery, and amid a profusion of the flowers she loved so well she was laid to rest Thursday, September 13, 1917. "Write, 'Blessed are the dead that die in the Lord!' because they rest, because their toil is over. The voice of weeping shall be heard no more. In the Eternal City, neither dying nor pain, sickness nor sorrow, neither crying, for God shall wipe away all tears. Rest! rest!"
